RW Buff Inc. Begins Construction on Three New Projects

RW Buff Inc.'s latest clients illustrate building trends focused on renovation of homes already owned.

RW Buff Inc. has secured three new construction projects on homes located in the South Stroudsburg, Analomink, and Pocono Manor regions of Northeast Pennsylvania. All three projects, which will be completed throughout the summer of 2011, involve additions to or remodels of existing home properties.

"We are seeing a huge increase in remodeling and renovation work in 2011," explains Bob Buff, owner and president of RW Buff Inc. "The economy has been slow to improve and homeowners are putting their hard earned dollars to increasing the value of properties they already own versus investing in new ones."

RW Buff Inc. is uniquely positioned in the Northeast Pennsylvania for handling all manner of remodeling and renovation projects. The RW Buff Inc. skill set includes full home renovation, strategic interior remodel, and historic restoration. Additionally, RW Buff Inc. has established relationships with skilled regional craftsmen and other building professionals, allowing the company to collaborate with their clients on even the most creative and challenging of renovation and remodel projects.

"We are excited by the number of clients who have chosen to work with RW Buff Inc.

this summer," summarizes Buff. "This increased activity, albeit in remodeling and renovation, bodes well across the board as it indicates people are once again turning to their home as an investment. It's good news not just for us, but the home construction industry in general."
